

SEP 1 8 1964

CIA R of Norman, Geoffrey R.
(Col.)

Col. Norman, Aviator in World Wars

Col. Geoffrey R. Norman, USAF (Ret.), died yesterday after long illness during a visit in Madison, Conn. He was 65.

Col. Norman was born in London and served in the 29th Squadron of the Royal Flying Corps during World War I. Later he studied painting in Europe and lived in New York where he was a portrait painter and president of the Mural Painters Society in the 1930s.

He returned to active duty with the Royal Air Force in World War II and served in England and India. During the latter years of the war he transferred to the U.S. Air Force and then worked in the Central Intelligence Agency, retiring in 1959.

Col. Norman leaves his wife, Ann; two daughters, Nancy LaLoria, at the home, 3225 33d pl. nw., and Brenda Susan in Cambridge, Mass., and two brothers, Sherwood and Clyde, in New York City.